BUONANOTTE GARIBALDI

Buonanotte Garibaldi is hidden behind ivy clad walls in Trastevere and built around a patio strewn with camelias and orange trees.
Once a convent where nuns used to store oil and wine, it is the home and studio of textile artist Luisa Longo. Her handpainted silks, taffetas and organzas are on display throughout the house, each piece is a unique design.
Two of the three rooms open out to the sunny patio, while on the first floor the Rome room has a huge terrace overlooking the Gianicolo Hill.
Days begin in fine style with a breakfast of home made pastries, tarts and jams served in the elegant dining room.
